

DEMAND UP FOR ACTIVE SHOOTER TRAINING AFTER EL PASO AND DAYTON ATTACKS

The Washington Examiner

Jim Hayes provides his insight on the uptick for active shooter training.

JAMES HAYES JR.

Vice President, Sports + Entertainment