

HOW TO FIND THE RIGHT SUPPLIERS... AND MANAGE YOUR INCREASINGLY INTRICATE SUPPLY CHAIN

Brainyard – Companies are smart to build supply chain resilience and diversity – and there are guiding principles to keep in mind and red flags to watch for as they bring on and work with suppliers. According to Andrew O’Connell, under current COVID circumstances, organizations may be tempted to skimp on the due diligence, vetting and pre-planning for supplier onboarding – this is not the time to relax on protocols.

ANDREW O'CONNELL

President, Investigations + Private Client Protection

Mr. O’Connell oversees and conducts private investigations and security assessments throughout the United States and the world. He specializes in the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other government enforcement investigations, corporate internal investigations, civil and criminal litigation support, IP matters, and business intelligence.