OVERVIEW

Alexandra Howard is an investigative and compliance analyst at Guidepost Solutions. She has been involved in a number of engagements, including with a major food supplier under criminal investigation by federal authorities in which she supports the compliance review and enhancement through data review and assessments and supporting the criminal investigations team to identify and develop employee fraud assessments.

Ms. Howard also served as a key member of the monitoring team that provided oversight of General Motors' compliance with its deferred prosecution agreement from its recall of defective ignition switches. Her experience on this engagement focused on the compliance and ethics department as well as human resources department, where she supported interviews of top executives and reviewed policies and procedures to ensure that safety was at the forefront of decision-making at the company.

Prior to joining Guidepost, Ms. Howard worked for Ralph Lauren Corporation coordinating its wholesale digital and e-commerce activities.
