OVERVIEW

Jeremy Hunt is an Enterprise Analyst for Guidepost, bringing 10 years of physical security systems experience to the team. Building on a 5-year foundation in the IT world, he moved into the security industry as an integrator installing and servicing a wide variety of access control, video management, intrusion, and fire systems. Since April 2019, Mr. Hunt has served as a managed services analyst at Guidepost supporting client security systems and projects. He brings a practical approach from his time in field. He has also become something of an enthusiast for certification programs, highlighting his desire to continue to add value for customers.
