OVERVIEW

Robert Bullock brings 14 years of corporate, military, and data center security experience to the Guidepost Solutions team. His primary responsibilities include configuring, maintaining, and upgrading multiple types of video management and access control systems on both new and existing projects.

Mr. Bullock has worked on multiple aspects of security and security management, including physical security, access control management, armed security implementation, and the development of policies and procedures for multiple types of environments and customers. Prior to joining Guidepost Solutions, Mr. Bullock worked almost exclusively within the data center security environment, developing extensive experience with multiple technologies and client types. For the past two years, he has managed the daily technical security operations of multiple customers within varying vertical markets. Mr. Bullock is now managing the Guidepost Solutions Managed Services team, utilizing his project management and team development skills.
